FRIDAY, JULY 31, 1857.

Many have expressed snrprise that Madeline Smith of Glasgow, Scotland, tried for murder, was not convicted. We are not at all surprised at it.

It seems that Miss Smith, an accomplished young lady of a highly respectable family, was seduced by a Frenchman, and that she wrote to him a great many passionate letters, the language of which imthe consummation of her shame. Her reputhe consummation of the same, she received an offer of honorable marriage from a merchant of wealth. She consequently undertook to break off the relations between herself and her seducer, but the latter would not permit it, telling her in his letters, that, if she dared to leave him, he would expose her, by means of the documents in his possession, to her family and the world. She entreated him most piteously to spare her and persisted for a considerable time in her entreaties, but he was inexorable. And so she poisoned him.

Madeline Smith was unquestionably guilty of two horrid crimes, but we do not believe there is a city in the world where she would have been executed for murder. Jurors always have been and probably always will be, to a certain extent, higher law

LOUISVILLE HOTEL.—This celebrated house, ad" mitted to be one of the best arranged hotels in the country, is still conducted by Messrs. Kean, Steadman, & Judge. Though Mr. Kean has taken an interest in a new hotel at Milwaukie, he has not relinquished that in the hotal here. The former patrons of the Louisville will, however, find there the innior of the firm, Mr. Philip Judge, who has been connected with it many years, and whose affability and courtesy have made him a great favorite, and added so largely to the popularity of the house. Mr. Steadman is a Kentuckian, and a gentleman who needs only to become known to win the good opin-ions if the guests. And we must not omit to mention Mr. Bull, the book-keeper, whose uniform politeness and attention make even a stranger feel at home.

THE KNICKERBOCKER FOR AUGUST .- This venerable monthly, with its rich freightage of choice literature, rare hnmor, and felicitous wit, is up to time. The dog-days could not repress the genial fun and sentiment of its glorious editor, and the sweltering heat was impotent in restraining the defightful thoughts and pure fancies of its contribu-

A TIMELY PROCLAMATION .- Mayor Pilcher has acted with his usual discretion in issuing a proclamation requesting the keepers of coffee houses to close their establishments on the day of the election. We trust there will be none who will refuse to comply with this most reasonable request.

Capt. E. T. Sturgeon has received a dispatch from St. Louis stating that Mr. A. J. Fielder, son of Stark Fielder, Esq., of this city, had fallen off a train on the Pacific Railroad, and was so seriously injured that his life was despaired of. Mr. F. was acting as conductor at the time.

A new and very dangerons counterfeit $10 note on the Bank of Kentncky has been recently issued, against which the community should be on their guard. Paddock & Co. have received intelligence warning all persons of this admirably execued counterfeit.

The Bank of the State of Indiana has declared a dividend, for the first six months of its operations, about 71/2 per cent, on its capital stock. That even beats our Kentucky Banks.

SHOW A STORY

Let all read and admire this noble production of the marvellous young girl:

[For the Louisville Bulletin.]

RHYME OF EVELYN OF TUSCANY! Bride Evelyn sits at her palace window. Full in the midnight splendor, In all their flashing pride The tall spires of the ocean-queen Tower grandly far and wide.

Prond Venice on her throne of isles; And sweetly rising like a dream Beyond the glorious hills, Pale Luna in her royal white

And the bright waves of the "Golden Shell" A sea of crystal glorified, Lies trem'lous in the breeze, Stretching away to the vague unknown Like a poet's reveries.

The winds are heavily sweet with odor. Bride Evelyn leans her regal brow Against the massy pane— Her wild black hair rolls to her feet, A storm of midnight rain!

Her white arms shine with matchless jewels. And like the sea of rosy waves That flood the sunset sky, Rich draperies sweeping from the ceil Around her blushing lie

The room is grand and antiquated-The gorgeous carpets, weirdly wrought
In Persia's magic loom, Glow like a maze of flowery dreams, In a world of tender gloom.

The walls are dark with tapestry-Some glorious poet-brain-There battle's awful red right hand Is heaping fields of slain!

The frescoed ceil a paradise? And stooping, like a scraph, from The twilight's fair pavillion, A dreamy face gleams wilderingly Through clouds of soft vermillion.

And over all a glory floateth-A sea of crystal splendor shed From lamps of starry gold, Revealing sculpture's wildest charms, Poetic, pale, and cold!

But Evelyn wears no smile to-night, Not all the proud magnificence Within that palace-room Can win the lady's shadowed heart From misery and gloom!

A queen of perfect loveliness! Her pearl-bound hair, clasped from a brow Stamped with imperial pride, Is bright with many a burning gem And the roses of a bride.

And under brows of Arab darkness, The splendid lightnings of a soul, Untrammelled as the storm, Flash through the midnight of despair A radiance wild and warm!

Why waits she at her golden lattice? Is it to see the mellow drift Of starlight on the hills? Or the beanty of the gemmy sea, That thus her dark eye filis?

Or walteth she her husband's step? Why starts she thus with bitter moan? What dismal strains are these? For hark! the lordly rise and fall Of music on the breeze.

A breathless marble agony-Crushing her rich robe's dainty folds, With white hands locked in prayer, She looks toward a prison-wall; What seeth the lady there?

Pale shapes that waver to and fro. And many a gorgeous gondola Is gliding swiftly down,

The prison's haughty frown. And now deep bells are ringing Not with the joud tumultuous swell Of victory's mighty roll! But the mournful diapason for

Some hapless passing soul! She wears a mouarch's signet, and A monarch's jewelled haud hath bound The roses on her brow-In all their mocking loveliness

They burn like curses now! For in the morn of blushing flowers, A pale grief entered her young life Its beauty to unknit, And left her in the shadow of A broken heart to sit.

She was most cruelly sold-ah me! The Tuscan lilies wreathed for her, One twilight by the sea.

And withered silently.

And him, her pure heart worshipped Clasped from the weary, weary world, Within the prison-bars, To-night death's angel claims his own

The victim of her father's hate-And this is why all mournfully, The haughty lady stands. Crushing her rich robe's jeweled folds With wildly clasped hands!

The dreaming ripples of the sea, Break in long tides of music o'er Their sunset-tinted shells; She only hears a wail of death, Through all their golden swells.

The crystal lamps burn fitfully, A step is on the marble stair, And now 'tis at the door, A pale shroud like a twilight mist Trails dimly on the floor.

Bride Evelyn falls a blasted thing!

Faintly the sweet morn's waning light Shines through the gilded pane The wild wind drifts the lady's hair A storm of midnight rain! EMMA ALICE BROWNE.

THE LAST ADMINISTRATION AND THE FILLIBUS TERS .- Gen. Wool has written a letter to the National Iutelligencer, touching that passage in Gen. William Walker's letter to President Buchanan, in which, referring to the grant of colonization from Don Francisco Castillon, and under the provisions of which he (Walker) went to Nicaragua, he says:

As soon as I received it (the grant), I showed it to the United States District Attorney for the Northern District of California, and to the General commanding the Pacific Division, who then had special powers and instructions from the President, under the neutrality act of 1818. Both these officers informed me that I could act under the contract, not only without fear of interference on their part, but with the express assurance that they would do all in their power to forward the enterprise.

Gen. Wool gives a narrative exhibiting the reason why he did not, on the occasion referred to, interfere with Gen. Walker. He refers to the circumstances under which he accepted the command of the Pacific department, in December, 1853. Certain negotiations were pending between Mexico and the United States, which President Pierce and Secretary of Wur Davis feared would lead to war, and, having great confidence in his (Gen. Wool's) long experience and judgment, they desired that he should accept of the command of that division, which he did. Secretary Davis directed his attention to certain special duties devolving on him in addition to the ordinary duties of the military command, viz: Among these will be the duty of maintaining our international obligations by preventing unlawful expeditions against the territories of foreign powers. Confidence is felt that you will, to the utmost of your ability, use all proper meaus to detect the fitting out of armed expeditions against countries with which the United States are at peace, and will zealously cooperate with the civil authorities in maintaining the neutrality laws.

The President, in a proclamation given to General Wool, calls upon

All officers of the government, civil and mili-tary, to use any efforts which may be in their pow-er to arrest for trial and punishment every such of-

With these instructions Gen. Wool went to California, and he says he was not long in discovering that Col. Watkins and Mr. Emory were recruiting men for Walker, then in Lower California; and that the Mexican Consul, Del Valle, and Patrice Dillon, French Consul, were raising un army for Raossuet Boulbon's designs on Sonora. Upon these facts, which I obtained and presented to the District Attorney," writes Gen. Wool, "Watkins, Emory, and the two Consuls were arrested, tried, and with one exception convicted." Walker, being forced to surrender, was sent to Gen. Wool, under whose auspices he was indicted and tried, but not convicted.

The remainder of Gen. Wool's narrative we copy in his own language:

About this time I received an extraordinary letter from the Secretary of War, Jefferson Davis, an extract of which is annexed:

WAR DEPARTMENT, Washington, April 14, 1854. Sir: * * Your remarks in relation to unlawful expeditions sailing from the coast of Califorinia suggest the propriety of referring you to your instructions upon the subject. It was not expected or desired that the military commander should do more than belongs to the ordinary relations of the civil and military power; and, in instructing you to aid the civil authorities, it was not intended that you should originate a west-and processitions for child metals. originate arrests and prosecutions for civil musde-neanors. You will readily perceive that couse-quences injurious to the public service would proba-bly follow from such interference by the military with the functions of civil authorities.

This most singular and extraordinary letter was no less a censure for the part I acted in breaking up the fillibustering scheme of Walker, Watkins, Emo the fillibustering scheine of Walker, Watkins, Emory, and of the French and Mexican consuls, than it nullified the Secretary's own instructions, which required me to "maintain our international obligations by preventing unlawful expeditions against the Territories of foreign powers," and the President's proclamation which required "all officers, civil and military, to use any efforts which may be in their power to arrest for trial and punishment every such offender."

After receiving this letter, Col. Walker, apprehensive that I might interfere with his expedition then preparing for Central America, called on me, and, as he said, to satisfy me that he was not engaged in any unlawful or fillibnstering scheme. I simply remarked, in reply, that, with the instructions which I had recently received from the Secretary of War, whether or not he was engaged in any suck enterprise, I had no authority to interfere with him—certainly not until I was called upon by the civil authorities to aid in suppressing it.

prise, I had no authority to interfere with him—certainly not until I was called upon by the civil authorities to aid in suppressing it.

The above explanation and facts seem to be called for by Wm. Walker's letter to the President, in order to show why it was that I did not interfere to prevent his expedition to Central America, the object of which, as declared by its friends at the time, was to conquer several States in that region, and was to conquer several States in that region, and form them into an independent slave confederacy.

THE FATAL POISONING CASE—Coroner's Inquest. We have already mentioned the facts connected with the poisoning of Mrs. Sophia Comstock, which resulted in her death. Yesterday the Coroner, Dr. Bryan, concluded his investigations, the stomach having been thoroughly analyzed by Prof. J. Lawrence Smith, who discovered distinct traces of arsenic. Miss Alice Ion Ransom, a niece of Mrs. Comstock, testified before the jury that she bought arsenic on Saturday for the purpose of killing rats at her own house. She was in the habit of visiting Comstock's, and the day that the poison was administered, partook of a meal there. However, she did not drink of the coffee in which the fatal dose was placed, and it is supposed that Comstock did not.

In consequence of these facts being elicited, the coroner Issued a warrant directing the arrest of Comstock and Miss Ransom. The former was lodged in jail, and the latter is in safe-keeping.

The following is the verdict: Inquest No. 51 .- Held on the body of Mrs So-Inquest No. 51.—Held on the body of Mrs Sophia Comstock, on the corner of Washington and Hancock streets, who was poisoned with arsenic.—
The verdiet of the jury is that suid Sophia Comstock cause to her death by poison administered to her by her husband, John A. Comstock; and they believe Alice Ion Ransom was accessory before the fact to the death of said Sophia Comstock.

TERRIBLE RIOT AT CAIRO .- Attack on the Free Negroes by a Gang of Desperadoes—Firearms Used. and Several Persons Wounded - Buildings Fired-Organization of a Vigilance Committee - Several of the Desperadoes Arrested-Great Excitement in Cairo. The Cincinnati Times has a correspondent at Cairo, Ill., who, writing from there under date of the 27th.

CAIRO, Sunday, July 26. Our city is now in a state of great excitement. Riot and lawlessness ran rampant last night; blood was shed, and the city had a narrow escape from conflagration. I hasten to give you the details so far as I can gather them.

It seems that a number of slaves escaped from Wiscouri in this vicinity.

It seems that a number of slaves escaped from Missouri, in this vicinity, a few days ago. It was ascertained that they had made their way to Cairo, and a number of Missourians came over in pursuit of them. They were here joined by a number of the most desperate characters of the city, who, supposing that the fugitives were secreted among the free negroes of the place, determined to made a search for them last evening after dark.

About half-past 1 o'clock this morning our citizens, who knew nothing of the affair, were alarmed by the repeated discharge of firearms, accompanied by the vells of men and the screams of women. It was terrific, and brough the people to the streets.

was terrific, und brough the people to the streets. A gang of men, armed to the teeth, cursing the niggers, made their way to that portion of the city occupied by the free blacks. They surrounded and immediately commenced an assault upon one of the houses, forcing in the doors and windows. A number of blacks including two or three woulders were houses, forcing in the doors and windows. A number of blacks, including two or three women, were in the house, and as they endeavored to escape they were fired upon. No less than fifty shots were fired, some of them by the negroes. There was an instunt stampede of the blacks from all parts of the city, and they were pursued, und in some instances fired at. The assaulting party declared their determination to drive every one of them from Cairo, no matter at what cost.

One of our constables was soon upon the ground, and valiantly interfered in behalf of two negro wo-men who were being maltreated. He ulso endeav-ored to force the mob to cease their violence, telling ored to force the mob to cease their violence, telling them that if they did not he would have them arrested. They langhed in his face, and proceeded with their work of destruction. They entered the house they had broken open, piled the furniture up in the centre of a room, and, with a yell, set it on fire. The constable, aided by some citizens, fortunately extinguished the flames. A high wind was blowing at the time, and if the tire had once got under way, as was intended, Cairo would by this time have been in ruins. After performing this act, and couring a scatterment, among the negroes, the and causing a scatterment among the negroes, the rioters retired.

Mayor S. S. Taylor called the citizens together at 10 o'clock, and the meeting determined that the rioters should be brought to justice. Mr. M. W. Williams was appointed Marshal, and fifty resolute men volunteered to aid in the arrest.

The Committee visited the house of Gundy Bryant, the leader of the outrages. As they neared it, Mrs. Bryant appeared in the door armed with a gan. She cocked it, and declared she would shoot down the first man who attempted to enter the house. She was suddenly rushed upon, however, and the gun token from her before she could use it. She is a desperate woman. Bryant is her fourth husband, and she boasts of having shot a man for giving her an offence. The house was searched, but Bryant had fled.

Several of the rioters have been arrested on this charge, and also that of kidnapping. Prosecutions have been commenced against the negroes, an old State law in reference to free negroes being enforced. Two of the servants of the Taylor House, very quiet men, were each arrested, and one fined $35 and tha other $50. They were also ordered to leave and tha othor $50. They were also ordered to leave the State within ten days. To save the remainder of his servants from prosecution, Mr. Davis, of the Taylor House, shipped them, eight in number, by the steamer John Gault, to Louisville to-day.

It is stated that Tom Ewing threatens to turn State's evidence, and make some developments which will implicate citizens of high standing. He says he expects to go to Alton, but he will not go alone. He knows a good deal if he will only tell it.

In the House of Commons, Roebuck moved resolutions condemnatory of the Persian war, and supported his motion in a speech of much bitterness, in which he accused Palmerston with having, by denuding India of troops for the Persian war, brought about the present state of affairs in India. There was a warm debate. Roebuck had many supporters, who declined however to vote for the resolutions. Palmerston censured Roebuck's motion, and reviewed his course regarding the negotiations with Persia, claiming credit rather than censure for the concessions made by the Government to facilitate the restoration of peace, and denied that there was any connection between the Persian war and Indian mutity.

Friends of missing persons lately attached to Walker's army in Nicaragua may be interested in learning that, as late as the 6th, there were still under charge of the Costa Rican authorities some 300 fillibuster deserters, for whose transportation out of the country arrangements had not yet been made. The New York Times learns this fact by private letter from a gentleman who had the fact officially from the Costa Rican government. It is probable that these men will be brought to Panama by the Central American mail steamer somewhere about the middle of next month

Another letter from Captain Montgomery, at Aspinwall, v. ho has command of the steam-frigate Roanoke, informs the Department that he will leave there on the 21st inst., or as soon as preparatory arrangements can be effected, for New York, where he will land the remainder of the fillibusters. He says the sick list, by proper medical treatment, has been reduced from one hundred and twenty to fifty, and that some three or four had died from disease brought with them. The storeship Release left Aspinwall on the 15th inst., for Boston, with a portion of Walker's men.

A letter to the New York Times from the Pacific port of Acajutla, in San Salvador, informs us that the cholera broke out in the interior early last month and was raging frightfully, eighteen or twenty deaths per day occurring in the town of Sonso nate, out of a population of about four thousand. The panic occasioned by the presence of this fearful scourge was already widespread, and the natives from every direction were fleeing to the mountains. At Acajntla it was found almost impossible to procure men to carry a little freight on board a vessel in the harbor, although no case of cholera had occurred at the port until the day on which our in-

PIGEON MATCH .- A Mr. King being backed to kill 75 pigeons at 75 shots, for $3,000, the trial took place on Tuesday afternoon, in New York, with the following results: The pigeons were placed in a trap having a spring door, with a string attached, which was held by Mr. King, who stood 10 yards distant. As each bird flew out, he fired, killing 42 birds in the first 50 shots. For the balance of the birds he stood 20 yards distant, letting ont two birds at a time, and killed 25 more birds in 22 shots, thus winning the match and having three shots to spare. At the close he offered to bet $1,000 that he could kill 94 birds singly in 100 shots.

SHIPMENT OF ALE TO LIVERPOOL .- Part of the freight on board the bark C. J. Kershaw, which cleared for Liverpool on the 15th inst., was a consignment of pale and amber ale and porter, from the brewery of H. G. Lucas, of Cleveland. The Daily Review learns from Mr. Lucas that "he has. made the shipment as a trial, and, if there is any margin for a decent profit, he will ship from 500 to 1,000 barrels during next year, provided he can obtain the facility of a vessel going direct from this port to Liverpool."

Two Irishmen recently inquired of the baggage-master of the Connecticut River Railroad, in Springfield, the freight on their trunks to Chicopee, and were told it was twelve and a half cents, but that, if they paid it, they could ride free themselves, whereupon they said they could walk it just as aisy. and that they were not the cravthers to sponge on the corporation. Their trunks were put aboard, and they walked.

The Presbyterian church at Paducah, Ky., have given a unanimous call to the Rev. L. H. Vandoren, who has been acting as their stated supply for the last year, to become their pastor. They have increased the pastor's salary three hundred dollars, to meet the increased expenses of living, and given him five weeks' vacation each year. This church has received several valuable accessions of late, both by letter and on profession of their faith.

POSTPONED .- A correspondent of the Petersburg Express, writing from Goldsborough, N. C., says a few days since a young printer, named Deford, of Portsmouth, Va., made arrangements to run off with a daughter of Deacon Nelson, of Goldsboro'. The trip was postponed, however, in consequence of the "enraged parent" being seen sitting before his door with a heavily loaded musket.

MELANCHOLY SUICIDE. - On Saturday last, Peyton Chandler, of Granville county, North Carolina, son of A. J. Chandler, of Mecklenburg, Va., committed suicide by blowing his brains out. He left a brief note of farewell to his father and mother and sisters. It is conjectured that the fatal catastrophe was precipitated by disappointment in love.

A Mr. Van Liew was found dead about midnight, Monday, in the neighborhood of Mercer and Canal streets, New York. He was returning home with a bottle of porter he had been out to purchase for his sick wife, when it is believed that he was set upon by garroters, and in consequence of sturdy resistance was murdered.

M. Lequerel and M. Lenorment of Paris, both distinguished as chemists, have recently produced detonating powder by dissolving loaf sugar in strong sulphuric acid, and then drying the product. It is stated to be as explosive as gun-cotton, but is not suited for muskets or rifles on account of its great rusting or oxydizing qualities.

The London Literary Journal says: "There are men now going about the streets with crape on their hats, saying, 'Poor Jerrold! how we miss him!' who were never in his company twice in their lives, and who never got anything from him but merited sarcasm for their folly."

The Indigo crop of the State of Salvador for next year promises to be unusually large and good. The cholera is raging in the State of Salvador, at Cojntepeque, San Salvador, Sonsonati, and other towns. At the end of June the deaths in Sonsonati averaged 16 a day.

Eggs for Burns.—The white of an egg has proved of late the most efficacious remedy for burns. Seven or eight successive applications of this substance soothe pain and exclude the burned parts from the air. This simple remedy seems to us far preferable to collodion, or even cotton.

AN INTERESTING DISCUSSION.—The Henderson Commercial says that the following interesting Henderson:

1st. That a State, under the Federal Constitution and by virtue of her own sovereignty, has the right to confer the right of suffrage on persons who are not citizens of the United States for State or Federal office.

2d. Has a State the power under the Federal Constitution by virtue of her State sovereignty to residents and inhabitants of such State.

LIVING BEYOND THEIR MEANS - "Half the fash. ionable people in New York," said a gentleman the other day, "are living beyond their means. Mr. A., occupying a house in a certain block, makes twenty thousand dollars a year, ten thousand of which he spends. Mr. B., who lives next door, makes only ten thousand, but, as his wife and daughters insist on dressing as handsomely as Mrs. A., and he is not willing to be outshone by a neighbor, he spends ten thousand also. Mr. C., who resides next door, makes but five thousand, yet, like the rest, spends ten thousand. The first is getting rich; the second will leave nothing for his family when he dies; the third is sure to break, sooner or later, his failure being only a question of time." We thought this picture was not inapplicable to Philadelphia, though in a less degree than to our boasting, spendthrift, showy sister city. Of late years the love of display and the silly vanity out of which it grows have alarmingly increased here. Hundreds of families, alarmingly increased here. Hundreds of families, in consequence, are laying up for themselves certain misery in the future, and getting nothing in return except a most unsatisfied present, for between the sneers of their neighbors, who generally know the truth about them, the contempt of the wise, and the reproaches of their own consciences, they enjoy really no happiness at all.

A more miserable delusion than that under which such persons labor cannot, indeed, be well conceived. If there is any maxim which is truer than another, it is that the only way to become rich, nay, the only way to avert poverty, is, to "lay by something for a rainy day." It is not always sunshine.

thing for a rainy day." It is not always sanshine. Neither in the physical world, nor in business affairs, is it bright uninterruptedly. The cold, bleak days of autumn succeed the balmy spring and rosy sumer; and reactions occur in trade, involving to a greater or lesser degree even the most prudent. Men, in the full flood tide of success, are apt to fortest that the abble sure to meat them. The timancial Men, in the full flood tide of success, are apt to forget that the abb is sure to meet them. The financial world is full of insolvents, most of them earning a scanty subsistence, who might have been in comfortable circumstances, if they had been provident in time. To nearly every person there comes at least one period of what some would call good luck; and if they take advantage of this, if they "make hay while the sun shines," their fortunes are won. But too many, instead of seizing the happy chance, and imitating the bee, which lays by in summer its winimitating the bee, which lays by in summer its win-ter's store, only launch out into larger expenses, squander as fast as they make, and die bankrupts,

But it is not only those who enjoy large incomes who are extravagant, for extravagance is a relative term, and he who earns ten dollars weekly may be as guilty of it as the merchant who realizes thon-sands. Perhaps, indeed, more persons with small incomes live beyond their means than those with large. The India shawl, the Sevres china, the Au-busson carpet, the service of plate, the rich mirrors, or the costly equipage, are less extravagant for the or the costly equipage, are less extravagant for the millionaire than comparatively lower-priced articles for the mechanic, the clerk, or the day-laborer. He who, making but a dollar daily, squanders a shilling in beer is more of the spendthrift than the rich man who drinks his two dollar champagne. The savings which lay the foundation of wealth are rarer, we fear among correctives they assume that the contractive than assume that some of the greatest fortunes which have been amassed in this country have belonged to men who began sed in this country have belonged to men who began life as day laborers. The first dime that is laid up is the first step taken toward becoming a capitalist; and he who is a capitalist, even to the smallest degree, has an advantage in the rush and struggle for independence and wealth. Never live beyond your means, no matter how little your income! Every new saving will make further ones easier, will be a fresh stone in the superstructure of your own forfresh stone in the superstructure of your own for-tune, will enlarge your power to make money as well as increase your hope and energy.—Phila. Ledger.

News From THE GADSDEN PURCHASE.—A letter from Major E. E. H. Fitzgerald, of the first dracoons, dated at Calabazas (in the Gadsden purchase), May 4, is published in the Los Angeles Star. Our Los Angeles correspondent quotes the most interest-ing portion of this letter, but we give an additional

It is a part of a general movement in New Mexico against the Gila Apaches, who are supposed to have killed Col. Dodge, the Indian agent of the Navajoes.

I have no further military news. Gen. Garland returns to New Mexico we hear. He was expected at Santa Fe at our last notices. We get only a monthly mail, and send for it a wagon and ten men. A train arrived vesterday, one hundred and ten days from the depot of Albuquerque. Think of that, ye fast Californian—and yet they persist in supplying us from that side. I came with a wagon to this place in fifteen days from Fort Yuma. We get most place in fifteen days from Fort Yuma. cheaply than you would suppose. Our beef only costs as 4 cents a pound; butter, $1; milk is procured at a trifle, and is sold by Papago Indians about the camp in great jars holding several gallons each. There is plenty of poultry to be had, and some game. Our dwellings are in tents and shanties made of logs set upright in the ground, and roofed with dirt. The valley is a beautiful one, with fine cottonwood trees for shade, and plenty of mesquiet for fuel. The grazing at this point is excellent all the year round. We were just opening a brisk trade with Sonora when the troubles commenced, and purchased all our grain, cattle, &c., there, to say nothing of London ale at $6 per dozen, and champagne at the same price. A ROMANTIC MARRIAGE AND ITS END .- Young ladies of a romantic turn of mind may derive some wholesome experience of the misery which awaits ill-assorted marriages from a case now before the Paris tribunals, in which a Madame Chabre seeks Paris tribunals, in which a Madame Chabre seeks to be divorced from her husband Monsieur Chabre. alias Lightning. The lady, it appears, is the daughter of a noble Belgian family, and was some years ago possessed of beauty, youth, and £7,200 sterling. It happened that, while visiting the circus of M. Dijeau, at Brussels, she fell desperately in love with the clown of his cstablishment, surnamed Lightning, probably from the marvellous manner in which he blazed away. She followed the interesting object of her passion to Paris, where she and Lightning were united in the holy bands of matrimony. But the ungrateful clown, after spending the property brought to him by his rospective states. matrimony. But the ungrateful clown, after spending the property brought to him by his romantic wife, deserted the latter, and flashed away with a young lady connected with Franconi's, whose talents in jumping through paper hoops capivated his practical mind.

HOT AND COOL. - "Whew! but it's hot!" said Hot and Cool. — "Whew! but it's hot!" said Brown, pantingly, as he met Jones, a fat neighbor, who revels in heat like a salaunander, and is always jolliest in dog-days. But Brown is another sort of a man, and hates warm weather as cats hate hot soap, or Satan holy water, "Isn't it dreadful?" said Brown. "Why, I've gone through all the processes known to modern cookery within the last three hours; I've been steamed, parboiled, stewed, baked, fried, and roasted! Isn't it dreadful?"

"Not at all," said Jones, "I like it. There's no weather too hot for me, that I ever found or heard of."

"That's lucky," said Brown, sarcastically—"for a man of your character and probable destination it's extremely lucky!" and Brown having made this remark, wiped his brow and retired in disgust.

A DISCUSSION AND A FIGHT .- A very discreditable affair occurred on the 24th ult. at Gallatin, questions are to be discussed by Gov. Throughout his speech be was respectful in his bearing to his competitor and said nothing which could be constructed as personally offensive to tol. Stewart. After he concluded. Col. Stewart replied in a speech two hours long. In the course of his remarks, he dealt a good deal in personallities, and we regarded much that be said in bad taste, and unsuited to the d scussion; amongst other things, be spoke of Maj. A FEMALE IN DISGUISE—A STIR AMONG THE OM-A FEMALE IN DISGUISE—A STIR AMONG THE OM-MINUS FOLKS.—Mr. C.— is the well known con-fidential clerk of an omnibus company located at the tri-tower structure, corner of Randolph and State streets. He is also something of a "blood" (we use the word in a mild sense), and is withal a tavorite with the "best portion of humanity." About a month ago a vacancy existed in the large corps of passenger agents of the company and Mr. month ago a vacancy existed in the large corps of passenger agents of the company, and Mr. C——introduced to the notice of his employers, a young person, Charley H——, who, through C——'s influence, readily secured the vacant situation. Charley was apparently not over eighteen years of age, quite handsome, remarkably intelligent, and decidedly "peert," as a hoosier would express it. Charley smoked cigars and took his "regular mips," very much as other bloods do, and could swear a round oath as justily as the fastest of his companions, with whom he speedily became a favorite, and round oath as lustily as the fastest of his companions, with whom he speedily became a favorite, and who nnanimously voted him a regular brick. Charley performed the duties appertaining to his situation with remarkable promptness and fidelity, and soon won the good opinion of his employers. It is true, that on two occasions he "got on a tare" with his particular friends, but as he escaped all watchhouse experiences, and did not so overload his hat as to render locomotion decidedly inconvenient, these little indiscretions were kindly overlooked by his employers. Both C—— and Charley H—— boarded at the F—— House. Charley determined to become acquainted with the lady boarders, and of course succeeded, Here was Charley's first great blunder. Charley's secret was soon out, and the boarders in the E—— House, out, and the boarders in the E_____ House

This discovery was made on Monday evening, and Charley, in her own proper garments—crinoline, and all—was on her way to St. Louis before midnight. Those who ride on the Chicago, St. Paul, and Fon du Lac Railroad need not be surprised after reading this item that need not be surprised, after reading this item, that they miss the pleasant smiles and quiet "Stop at a hotel, sir?" of the handsome young omnibus agent. WHERE WILL THEY GET HUSBANDS?-It appears by the last census, that the excess of females over males in the State of Massachusetts is 33,056. This excess is partly accounted for by the tendency among the sons of the Bay State to emigrate to other parts of the country, and by the resort of native and for-eign females to the factories. In Lowell alone, the excess of females over males is 8,088. One certain: Massachusetts cannot furnish husb its marriageable female population, and Lowell, especially, we should think, would be an excellent place for bachelors who wish to get mated. In fourteen cities of Massachusetts the preportion of females to every 100 males was, in 1855, as toliows: In Boston, 108; Lowell, 153; Worcester, 104; Charlestown, 102; Salem, 120; Cambridge, 110; New Bedford, 110; Roxbury, 111; Lawrence, 117; Lynn 111; Springfield, 112; Newbnryport, 123; Fall River, 116; Chelsea, 110. DEAD RABBIT SHIRTS —Among the latest imprevements in underclothing is a shirt which we saw yesterday, worn by a rough looking customer on the New York boat, at the foot of Walnut street. The article had a white ground, and was embellished all over its surface with prints of dead rabbits hanging by the heels. The rabbits were done in vermillion. The garment was suggestive, and went to show that our calico printers are wide awake. We have seen mariners' shirts printed in an anchor pattern, but they have been in existence for a long period. The dead rabbit shirt, however, is a novelty. In our dead rabbit shirt, however, is a novelty. In our view, the man who wore it may be set down under the same head. He looked as though a sort of cross between a "Plug Ugly" and a "flydranlic Ram."

Toy Balloons Dangerous.—The New York Commercial Advertiser warns the young people who nse these novel playthings, that they may become dangerous articles by the introduction through the pores of the vulcanized rubber, of which the covering is made, of atmospheric air, which, uniting with the gas contained in the envelope, produces an explosive mixture analogous to fire damp. If by chance signified, the effects might be fearful. Another danger is the liability to inhale the poisonous gas, should a boy attempt to reinflate his partly exhausted balloon with air from his lungs.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared onstrictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Beerhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherhand scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

CAUTION.

The great popularity of this delightful Aroma has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. John A. Comstock and Ion Ransom, charged with producing the death of Mrs. Comstock by administering poison, had their cases continued.

Catherine Adkins and Mary Hennegan are fellow servants at Daniel Smith's-have quarreled and sought satisfaction in court. Both were sent home, his Honor hoping that Mr. S. might regulate the domestic difficulties in his kitchen apartment.

A grocery merchant up-town was held to bail in $400 to answer the charge of passing a $5 counterits truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be deged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in itseffect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

NOTICE—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak, and low spirited it will prove a grateful aromatic cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties.

CAUTION. feit note on a cigar-maker in his neighborhood. The proof was all on the side of the prosecutor-himself and wife; and the accused, a man of very excellent character, denied having passed the bill.

Steamboat Disasters on the Missouri River .- The following we copy from the St. Louis Republican of Thursday:

We learned vesterday morning of an accident to the steamer Edinburg, and of the sinking of the steam ferry-boat that is used at St. Charles. The steam rery-boat that is used at St. Charles. The particulars as we heard them are as follows: The steamer Ediuburg, Capt. Dan. Able, left this port on Monday evening heavily loaded for Council Bluffs and other points on the Missouri river, and when just below St. Charles, on Tuesday morning, she ran on a log or a number of logs which lie there, and became so hard aground that it was found necessary to lighten the freight off before the lost cessary to lighten the freight off before the boat could be set afloat. The ferry-boat at St. Charles was sent for, hut did not come until 6 o'clock the was sent for, but did not come until 6 o'clock the same evening, during which time the Loit was becoming in danger of breaking in two. The ferry-boat came to the Edinburg about 6 in the evening, and at a late bour that night was fully loaded and started for St. Charles to discharge, but on the way there it was snagged and sunk in deep water, and it is supposed that the freight on board was lost or badly damaged. When the ferry-hoat left the Edinburg she was as hird aground as ever, and, as there were no lighters to be had, it was thought there wera no lighters to be had, it was thought that a portion of the freight still on board would have to be thrown in the river in order to prevent the boat from breaking in two. Yesterday morning the beliboat No. 6 left the foot of Market street for the purpose of raising the ferry-boat, saving the freight, and assisting the Edinburg.

[For the Louisville Bulletin.] The pump on the corner of Walnut and Fif-enth is out of order and has been so for four conths. The pump man has been notified of it on several occasions, but nothing has yet been done.

THE CAPITOL AT WASHINGTON .- It is not The CAPITOL AT WASHINGTON.—It is not generally realized by our citizens that the eastern side of the Capitol is the principal front, and that the western side is in fact the rear. The main entrance to the center building is from the eastern front: and so will be the entrances of the new wings. The principal statuary of the center building is on the custern front: and so will be that of the new wings. And cipal statuary of the center building is on the eastern front; and so will be that of the new wings. And it is to the East, to old Atlantic, and to the enigrant ship of the Old World, that the magnificent statue of Liberty on the new dome will look.

In this connection we will simply state that the statuary in marble designed to occupy the eastern gable pediment of the new north wing is now nearly completed; that for the south wing is not yet design. gable periment of the new north wing is now nearly completed; that for the south wing is not yet designed. In the center of the pediment will stand the "Genius of America," based on a rock, amid the lashing of Old Ocean, with the American Eagle couched at her left side, oak and laurel wreaths in her right hand, and her left partially raised in a supplicatory manner, as if invoking the blessings of plicatory mauner, as if invoking the blessings of Heaven upon the scenes about her. On her left are to be arranged in order, and decreasing in height according to the angle of the pediment, a standy pioneer in the act of felling a large tree; an Indian hunter boy returning from the chase with his dog at his side, and a duck and rabhit hing over his shoulder on his hunting stick; an Indian chief sitting of the statement of the s nis side, and a duck and rabbit hing over his shoulder on his hunting stick; an Indian chief sitting on a rock, in deep meditation; an Indian mother reclining with an infant on her breast; an Indian grave overgrown with grass and wild flowers. On her right are to be ranged, in the same manner, an American soldier with his hand on his sword, ready to draw it at the call of his country. Marcator, string American soluer with ms nabu on ms sword, ready to draw it at the call of his country; Mercator sitting among the emblems of commerce, with his fingers resting upon the globe, as if it were his plaything; two American youths about twelve and fifteen, employed the advantage of the country with a book two American youths about twelve and fifteen, embraced and advancing, the younger with a book under his arm and the elder pointing forward and upward, as if they had set out to scale the highest peak of Parnassus; a schoolmaster with his arm around his little boy-pupil, studiously initiating him into the mysteries of the primer; an American mechanic reclining on a cogwheel; sheaves of grain, &c. The most of the statuary is now on exhibition in the Agricultural Committee Room, in the southwest corner of the new House of Representatives, and would well repay the visit of any one who has not already seen it.—Washington Union, July 25.

ATER FROM CAIRO-EXAMINATION OF THE ELOTERS-A SCANDALIZING DOCTOR TROTTED OUT-AN IRISH SCHOOLMASTER IN TROUBLE. CAIRO, July 28, 1857.

The excitement in reference to the late riot has abated, partly owing to the successful examination of the rioters in custody, and partly to other can es of excitement. The rioters, whose names I sent to you yesterday, were to have been tried before Judge O'Shaughnessey, but, the vigilants not having confidence in him, or rather more in Judge Corcoran, procured a change of venue to the latter gentleman's court. On the charge of rioting, all were acquitted except Tom. Ewing, who was required to give bail in the sunn of $200. The testimony was very vague against the others. They were then all accused of kidnapping, and the facts brought forth render their guilt certain. They were held in the sum of $200 each for their appearance before a higher court to answer this charge. They have not yet procured bail, and are still in prison.

Considerable excitement has existed to-day in of excitement. The rioters, whose names I sent to Considerable excitement has existed to-day in reference to one of our physicians, Dr. Woods, who has been escorted out of town by a company of genthemen, who notified him that his return would secure a cost of tar and feathers. I know nothing of the facts, and merely give you the street talk in reference to the matter. Dr. Woods resided here reference to the matter. Dr. Woods resided here some twelve months ago, and was hospitably received and boarded by a private family. There were several interesting daughters in this family, including one little creature about fifteen years of age. The Doctor seemed to become enamored of this girl and was very attentive to her. One day, however, and was very attentive to her. One day, nowever, the doctor happened to leave a private letter exposed, so that it reached the eyes of the father, and the letter was found to contain the most vulgar charges against the girl. The father immediately sought satisfaction by personal chastisement. He sought the Doctor out, fired at, but missed him. The matter was then taken in hand by others, and the Doctor out and applications the leaving the satisfactors.

ter was then taken in hand by others, and the Doctor escaped pnnishment by leaving the city promptly in twenty-four hours.

He went to St. Louis, and, as the story goes, there in solmn form reiterated the charges against the girl, declaring that he had had illicit dealings with her. The fact came to the knowledge of some friends of the family, who, knowing their entire falsity, exerted themselves to keep the matter from them and spare the feelings of the innocent young lady.

About six months ago, the doctor returned to Cairo, seemingly repentant of what he had done, and the subject was not revived. More recently, however, he renewed his accusations in private con-and the subject was not revived. More recently, however, he renewed his accusations in private conversation, and a day or two since this fact came to the knowledge of some of the friends of the family. Yesterday he was waited npon by a delegation of our best citizens, and invited to walk over to Mayor Taylor's office. He accompanied them because he could not do otherwise. He was there made to retract in writing everything he had said against the young lady, and to apologise to her by the same instrumentality. He was then allowed two hours to prepare himself to leave the city. The self-constituted committee did not leave him, but remained with him during the two hours, and then escorted him to the depot. Aboard the cars the doctor thanked them for their attention and regretted his instillity to make them a speech. Had he remained here over night, the excitement against him, I am sure, wuld have resulted in his receiving a coat of tar and feathers.

sure, would have resulted in his receiving a coat of tar and feathers.

We have another excitement. An Irish Catholic named Mahony, has been teaching school in Ohio City, Missouri, opposite this place, for a year past. During that time he made the acquaintance of a young American lady, of great personal heauty and handsome accomplishments. He made love to her, and as rumor has it, succeeded in winning the heart of the fair one, or at least securing her consent to a marriage engagement, if it met with the approbation of her parents. In the meantime, the pedagogue has removed here, and opened a school, and more recently addressed a note to the father of the young lady, asking her hand in marriage. The parent indignantly refused his assent. This called forth a long letter from the school-teacher, who told the father that he might as well consent, as the intimacy between the daughter and himself had destroyed her maidenhood! The contents of the letter became known in Ohio City, and caused the greatest excitement. Mahony has been ordered to leave Cairo, in double quick time, and a number of young Missourians are on his scent, determined yet to treat him to a suit of clothing which will stick closer to him than a brother.

It was stated in a telegraphic dispatch that official documents had been forwarded to the Government, contradicting the reports of Judge Drummond and others, about Utah. The following is one of GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH TERRITORY.

To the Ilon. Jeremiah S. Black, Attorney General of the United States, Washington, D. C.

Sir:—My attention having been drawn to the letter of Justice W. W. Drimmond, under date of March 30, 1857, addressed to yourself, tendering his resignation as Associate Justice for Utah, wherein my office is called in question, I feel it incumbent upon me to make you the following report. Justice W. W. Drummond, in his fourth paragraph says: "The records, papers, &c., have been destroyed by order of Gov. B. Young, and the Federal officers grossly insulted for presuming to raise a single vuestion about the treasonable act."

I do solemnly declare this assertion is without the I do solemnly declare this assertion is without the slightest foundation in truth. The records, papers, &c., of the Supreme Court in this Territory, togeth er with all decisions and documents of every kind belonging thereto, from Monday, September 22d, 1851, at which time said Court was first organized, up to this present moment, are all safe and complete in my custody, and not one of them missing, nor have they ever been disturbed by any person.

Again. In the decision of the supreme court in the case of Moroni Greene, the which decision was written by Judge Drummond himself, I find the following words: "That as the case for which Greene was convicted seems to have been an aggravated following words: "That as the case for which Greene was convicted seems to have been an aggravated one, this court does remit the cost of the prosecution, both in this court and the court below." Greene was provoked to draw a pistol in self-defense, but did not point it at any one. He was a lad of 18 years old. Much feeling was excited in his favor, and he was finally pardoned by the Governor upon a petition signed by the Judges and members of the bar of the United States court, the Hon. Secretary of State, and many of the most respectable citizens of Great Salt Lake City.

of State, and many of the most respectable citizens of Great Salt Lake City.

Again. In relation to the "incarceration of five or six young men, from Missouri and Iowa, who are now (March 30, 1857), in the penitentiary of Utah, without those men having violated any criminal law in America," &c, This is an utterly false statement. But I presumes he alludes to the incarceration, on the 22d January, 1856, of three men, and on the 29th January, 1856, of one more. If so, these are the circumst inces: "There were quite a number persons came here as teamsters in Gilbert & Gerrish's train of goods, arriving here in December, persons came here as teamsters in Gilbert & Ger-rish's train of goods, arriving here in December, 1855, after winter had set in. They arrived here very destitute, and at that season of the year there is nothing that a laboring man can get to do. Some of these men entered the store of S. M. Blair & Co., of these men entered the store of S. M. Blair & Co., at various times in the night and stole provisions and groceries. Some six or eight of them were indicted fer burglary and larceny, three plead guilty, ank a fourth was proven guilty. The four were sentenced to the penitentiary for the shortest time the statue allowed for the crime. And just as scon as the spring of 1856 opened and a company was preparing to start for California, upon a petition setting forth mitigating circumstances, the Governor pardoned them, and they went on their way to California. It was a matter well understood here at the time, that these men were incarcerated more particlarly to keep them from committing further crime larly to keep them from committing further crime during the winter.

Since that time there have been but four Since that time there have been but four persons sent to the penitentiary for forgery and petty larce-ny for terms of 30 and 60 days, to-wit: one on the 19th November, 1856; two on the 24th November, 1856; and one on the 26th January, 1856. So that on the 30th March, 1857, and for several days previous there was not a white prisoner in the Utah penitentiary, nor is there at this date.

I could, were it my province in this affidavit, go on and refute all that Judge W. W. Drummond has stated in his letter of resignation by records, dates, and facts; but believing that the foregoing is sufficient to show you what reliance there is to be placed upon W. W. Drummond's word, I shall leave the subject.

In witness of the truth of the foregoing, I have In witness of the truth of the foregoing, I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed the L. s. seal of the United States Supreme Court for Utah Territory, at Great Salt Lake City, this twenty-fifth day of June, A. D. 1857.

CURTIS E. BOLTON,
Deputy Clerk of the U. S. S. Court in the absence of W. I. Appleby, Clerk.

The New York Express, which has always been evidently opposed to Gen. Walker, comments on the last news from Nicaragua:

The news from Nicaragaa, that the two domestic factions, which now divide that distracted country, the "Chamoristas" and the "Leonistas," are at swords' points, and likely ere long to decide their respective claims to govern the country, by a pitched battle, gives color to the rumors floating about in the papers, that Gen. Walker is about to return there. pers, that Gen. Walker is about to return there Indeed, it is asserted as a positive fact that his old enemies, the Chamoristas, have sent the great filli-

The Chamoristas, nave sent the great nin-buster a special invitation to hurry back.

The Chamoristas. it will be recollected, were for-merly the most deadly foes of the fillibusters, but they seem now to be so hard pushed by the opposite faction, that, with characteristic facility, they are ready to forget past emmities, and to make a man their leader whom they have just helped to drive ignominiously out of the country.

ignominiously out of the country.

We do not know that we ever had much respect for General Walker, or for men of his stamp, but, for General Walker, or for men of his stamp, but, bad as they may be, one can hardly help thinking that the worst of them are much too good for such a wrethed, quarreling crew as the native population of Central America. The bone of contention between the two parties, in the first instance, is the Tresidency, a beggarly office at best, with but little pay, and no peace for its possession.

After the evacuation of the country by the fillibusters, the two factions alluded to, following the promptings of a petty ambition, improvised each a Provisional President, and the news we have now is, that, instead of waiting to decide rival claims at a special election, preparations were making to settle special election, preparations were making to settle the question in the usual Spanish-American fashion— a general battle. So far as the United States are ncerned, we are not aware that we need care particularly which whips.

FRIENDS OF ROBEMIA: a Satirteal Novel of Lendon Life: by E. M. Wblity (The Stranger in Parliament). A handsome 12mo volume, bound in cloth and illustrated, 430 pages, Irrice 8195.

Mr. Whitty has of late produced a marked sensation la the literary circles of Great Britain by a series of satircal papers published in the London Times, under the nom de plume of "The Stranger in Parliament," which have gained for him the most envisible notoristy of being one of the most powerful political essayists in Europe and a satrist of great vigor and strength. This, his first complete work, is

A SATIRICAL NOVEL

of the most brilliant character, combining a racy expose of certain literary and artistic chanes in London, together with a story and plot which for quaintness and interest has been compared to the "Christic Johnstone" and "Peg Woffington" of Charles Reade.
